

J. Alain Smith

J. Alain Smith is a hunter/writer/businessman whose success has allowed him to venture to all points of the globe in search of hunting adventures. He has collected over 250 different species from around the world. Alain has written several books on hunting with all the proceeds from the sales going to Conservation projects with SCI and GSCO. Mountain hunting is Alain's first love, with the pursuit of Cape Buffalo running a close second. Alain believes that we as hunters all need to give something back to our sport, through volunteering our time, investing our money and being proactive in making sure our rights as hunters are protected. "I am very proud to be a Life member of SCI and happy to support it's various missions around the world. Through hunting, I have met tremendous people on all corners of the earth that I would otherwise have never met, were it not for hunting in the great outdoors." (From World Hunting Awards Reno 2011 Convention)