

Adventure writer J. Alain Smith's new novel is here!

Finally a great novel for hunters!

Set in the steamy jungles and woodlands of the Central African Republic, Matt Simmons, businessman/big game hunter, and his beautiful young wife go on safari for Africa's most elusive antelope, the Bongo. When trouble erupts between Sudanese elephant poachers and the Russian mercenary the professional hunters have hired to keep the poachers at bay, Matt's wife Bianca gets caught up in the middle of the action. Matt and his trusted African tracker have to take matters into their own hands to rescue her before she is spirited across the border, lost forever. Non-stop action and intrigue makes this book one you will not want to put down!
